Features of the Issue

STREET — While Makati Central Business District brims with the kinetic energy of hustling office workers, fitness buffs, and bargoers, there remains to be a patch of sanctuary in the city in the form of Legaspi Village. Skyscrapers may tower over trees, but life and restorative energy is breathed through the urban parks and the communities that reside in this village. Restaurants, spas, boutiques, fitness centers, and even a Sunday Market make up the life here. Know more about this little urban escape in Makati in this month's Street feature.

COVER — Tagaytay is a very popular destination not only due to its accessibility from Manila but also because of the many escapades that lie in wait. It is the most sought-after for its cool weather and its unparalleled vantage point to revel in the views of Taal Volcano and Lake. Apart from these, the city is also home to many well-kept treasures that can easily satisfy both your tummy and your imagination—no one visit in Tagaytay is the same. This month, we revisit the second summer capital of the Philippines and rediscover its many wonders that keep people coming back to it.

LEGASPI VILLAGE

Legazpi Sunday Market

Washington Sycip Park

Legazpi Active Park

Dela Rosa Walkway

The relaxed neighborhood that resides in the leisurely setting of Legaspi Village is a quintessential community where time appears to slow down despite the fast-paced comings and goings of Makati Central Business District. The village's easygoing vibe attracts a lot of young professionals, businessmen, foodies, and expats who seek solace in the urban community. With its diversity of dining options and boutique stores, and proximity to everyday amenities such as public parks and shopping malls, Legaspi Village has earned its reputation as the most-coveted workplace and residence in the metro.

The walkable, tree-lined streets of Legaspi Village lead to, one way or another, Washington SyCip Park and Legazpi Active Park where families with kids, joggers, and dog walkers come together for some fresh breeze and scenery. Close to these parks is the venue for the famed Legazpi Sunday Market, a weekly flea market where plenty of local produce, gourmet food, street eats, and artisan items can be found. It is currently held at the parking lot between Corinthian Plaza and Washington Sycip Park.

Another famous landmark of Legaspi Village is the 1.1-km Dela Rosa Walkway that extends from Greenbelt to Ayala North Exchange and Makati Medical Center. It not only is a convenient all-weather footpath from one end of Legaspi Village to the other but also serves as a public art exhibition with wall murals and photo exhibits.

TAGAYTAY

A WONDER REDISCOVERED

Tagaytay is known as a viewing point of Taal Volcano and Lake, a scenery highly coveted for its therapeutic wonder—just looking at it makes you feel relaxed and inspired. To get closer to the volcano, Tagaytay also serves as a jump-off point to Talisay Bay, where boats wait to take visitors to the volcano island. Tagaytay's cool climate also attracts every city-dweller especially during summer. During the yuletide season, it is the closest Filipinos can get to a "white Christmas"—with a chilly weather but without snow. It is also the perfect time to savor a bowl of the famous bulalo (beef shank soup) and enjoy activities with the family.

Despite being a very familiar place, no visit to Tagaytay is ever the same. The multitude of gastronomic gems, unique hotels and BnBs, shops, parks, and attractions, give you something new to look forward to every time. This holiday season, we revisit Tagaytay and rediscover the best of the Philippines' second summer capital.

TRAVEL TIPS

Tagaytay is an easy one to two-hour drive from Metro Manila via SLEX and Santa Rosa-Tagaytay Road.

There are also many public transportation options, the most common of which is the bus. There are buses bound for Tagaytay or Nasugbu/Balayán/Lermery in Cubao, Buendia, Makati, and Pasay that cost Php 80 to Php 100. These buses take Cavite and Emilio Aguinaldo Highway, with a travel time of 2 to 3 hours.

Air-conditioned vans are also available in front of EGI Mall, near LRT Gil Puyat Station, with the fare amounting to Php 200.

To get around Tagaytay by public transport, you can take the jeepney or, Tagaytay's premium version of the tricycle—bukyo, which is similar to Thailand's tuk tuk. You can hail a bukyo for regular (shared) or special trips for a minimum fare of P30. Bukyo is ideal for farther spots like Picnic Grove and People's Park.

Antonio's

1 | P P P P P

Since its opening in November 2002, it has been one of Tagaytay's highly-coveted restaurants, owned by renowned Chef Antonio "Tonyboy" Escalante. Antonio's is the only Filipino restaurant to be included in The Miele Guide to Asia's Finest Restaurants for five years in a row.

They take pride in their dry-aged steak—an exceptional fare not to be missed at Antonio's. A must-try from their entree is the 45 Days Dry Aged Charcoal Grilled Angus Prime Ribeye Steak, a sizzling 700 grams of tender-aged Angus ribeye beef served with six different condiments. Their steaks come with a choice of salad, soup, dessert, and coffee or tea, which determines the price of your meal.

Balay Dako

2 | P P P P

Balay Dako or "big house" in Negrense is modeled after classic Filipino houses where families would celebrate festivities—weddings, birthdays, and any special family occasion. The good food served at Balay Dako is always accompanied by views of Taal Volcano. Their Sizzling Bulalo na Baka puts the bulalo experience to a whole new level. Instead of being served in a soup, beef shank is braised and served on a cast-iron platter and covered with delicious mushroom sauce.

Balay Dako also has a breakfast buffet on the weekends. The breakfast buffet stays true to Balay Dako's concept, serving Filipino favorites such as beef tapa, tinapa or smoked fish, omelets, and a selection of homemade bread and jams.

Breakfast at Antonio's

3 | P P P P

Breakfast at Antonio's was opened just a year after Antonio's was established to have a place dedicated to all-day breakfast. The restaurant is situated in a 1960s-inspired American bungalow house with an elegant yet homey atmosphere—still with spectacular views of Taal Volcano. Their Breakfast Favorites are proudly made in-house and from scratch.

Ribchon

4 | P P P P

Ribchon was inspired by the wonders of Texas slow-cooked barbeque and the famous Filipino Lechon. Their barbeque masterpiece, Baby Back Baboy, is made with slow-cooking and smoking methods of the American barbeque to the lechon, particularly the ribs. A feast for 2 to 4 people, Baby Back Baboy comes with BBQ sauce, pumpkin soup, salad, and bowls of rice. It is best to savor this dish with bare hands.

Cafe Voi La

7 | P P

Cafe Voi La is an Asian-fusion restaurant born out of a traveler's culinary discoveries around the region of Southeast Asia. Its namesake was inspired by the Vietnamese phrase boi la, which means to cook with leaves.

It is undoubtedly an artistic masterpiece in the form of a restaurant that will take you to a whole new level of the dining experience. A highly recommended dish is their Café Voi La Signature Chicken Satay, a delightful concoction of Vietnamese, Indonesian and Cambodian flavors and spices like lemongrass, turmeric ginger, and kafir lime.

AIRBNB

The charm of Airbnb comes from the idea of staying in a true home with a lot of household benefits. Airbnb accommodations also tend to be more diverse and novel compared to conventional hotel rooms. To address safety concerns, Airbnb verifies all personal profiles and listings posted on the platform and manages a trusted payment platform. A smart messaging system is also implemented for hosts and guests to communicate effectively.

In Tagaytay, Airbnb is a popular alternative to hotels. While most Airbnbs are located in condominiums, local hosts have found extremely creative ways to make their units stand out.

To use Airbnb, you must create an account for free by logging on to airbnb.com or downloading the app.

MEDICAL PROFESSIONALS

For an expat, there are basic necessities that you need to know to have a comfortable stay in the Philippines. Apart from food, means of transportation, and emergency hotlines, it is important to be aware of health services around the Metro. This includes finding a physician you can talk to about your health condition as you live in the Philippines.

To help you out, here are 4 trusted medical professionals in Manila, who are highly-experienced and trained to provide the best care for their patients. Get to know them as you read their profile and each of their specializations.

Ronald Reodica, MD, FCCP, FPSCCM Pulmonary, Critical Care & Sleep Medicine

Dr. Ronald Reodica couldn't imagine being anything else other than a doctor, attributing this to having a father who is also one. He took up medicine at the University of the Philippines Manila and had his residency and fellowship at the State University of New York with subspecialization in pulmonology, critical care and sleep medicine. Dr. Reodica explained that these three fields are somewhat connected and he took the opportunity to learn all of them, especially the latter two, which are fairly new fields in medicine at that time. His typical working day starts with rounds in the Intensive Care Unit (ICU) as a critical care doctor. He conducts a clinic in the morning and afternoon, and then if he has more time, he reads sleep studies in sleep laboratories. Coming home to the Philippines after practicing medicine in the states for 11 years has been one of the most fulfilling things Dr. Reodica has done, and as a doctor, engaging and talking with his patients is one of his favorite things to do.

Benjamin Alimurung, MD, FACC, FAHA

Internal Medicine (IM) - Cardiology

Being a doctor runs in the blood—following in the footsteps of his late father, Dr. Benjamin N. Alimurung has been actively practicing clinical cardiology, including invasive and interventional cardiology, regularly performing coronary angiography and deployment of coronary stents, for over 38 years. He completed his medical degree at the University of Santo Tomas (UST) in 1971. He completed a residency in Internal Medicine at UST and then at Georgia Baptist Medical Center in Atlanta, Georgia, USA. When he finished residency, he went on to train for four years in a Clinical and Interventional Fellowship in Cardiology at the Emory University School of Medicine, also in Atlanta. He currently is head of the Cardiovascular Diagnostic Laboratory and the Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory of Makati Medical Center (MMC). Dr. Alimurung served as the Medical Director from 2006 to 2016 of MMC and is a member of the Board of Directors of the same institution.

Ma. Celi Rico-Tantianpact, MD

General Pediatrics, subspecialty in Pediatric Dermatology

Even though she came from a family of lawyers, the interest didn't rub off on Dr. Tantianpact as she already knew what she wanted — to be a doctor. Eventually, the calling for medicine just fell into place for her and being a doctor for kids is exactly what she would love to become. She took Medicine at University of the East Ramon Magsaysay Memorial Medical Center and had her internship and residency at the Department of Pediatrics in Makati Medical Center. She took her subspecialty of Pediatric Dermatology at KK Women's and Children's Hospital, Singapore, and is now handling cases such as atopic dermatitis or eczema, skin infections, as well as congenital skin conditions such as hemangioma and nevi or moles. She has been a pediatrician for five years now and, even in such a long year of practicing, she never fails to acknowledge that each child is fascinating and special in their own way.

Make an appointment:

- ✓ Room 359, Tower 1, Makati Medical Center
Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays: 9 am to 12 pm
Tuesdays: 9 am to 12 pm, 1 pm to 3 pm
Thursdays: 9 am to 12 pm, 3pm to 5 pm
Contact no.: 02-8888-8999 loc. 2359

Angelo Lozada, MD

Internal Medicine (IM), Subspecialty in Gastroenterology and Hepatology

Dr. Angelo Lozada is an internal medicine specialist with subspecialties in gastroenterology and hepatology, treating all digestive and liver-related diseases. After completing his doctorate degree at the University of Santo Tomas in 2006, he obtained his license and finished his internship at the Makati Medical Center (MMC) all within the succeeding year. He acquired his residency in internal medicine in 2010 and his fellowship in gastroenterology in 2014 at the MMC. Dr. Lozada also took his fellowship in Hepatology at Seoul St. Mary's Hospital, Catholic Medical Center, in South Korea in 2016. His typical day at work revolves around doing endoscopy and colonoscopy procedures on his patients, teaching residents and fellows in training, and doing rounds. Every great thing is much more admirable especially when the small things are taken with great importance—that's pretty much how Dr. Lozada treats his patients. You may connect with Dr. Lozada through his official social media account: @ABLozadaMD (Facebook, Twitter, Instagram).

Miguel C. Garcia
President & CEO of NTT Ltd Philippines

Miguel C. Garcia is the founder, chairman, and CEO of Diversified Technology Solutions International Inc. (DTSI) Group, which is now part of the NTT Global Group, one of the top 10 global business and IT service providers with a presence in over 57 countries. DTSI was founded by Garcia in 1997 and became part of the NTT Group in 2012, specializing in facilities, and technology-based products, solutions, and services focused on the IT-BPO industry and global enterprises. They build and enable the Intelligent Workplace of the Future.

Please tell us about yourself as well as your background and experiences.

I am deeply-rooted in values—passion, integrity, faith, professionalism, hard work, and doing the right things. Very entrepreneurial, obviously, but also very passionate about making an impact to society. It's not just about business but about improving the lives of our people, the lives of our customers, and society.

I come from a family of entrepreneurs. My grandfather started his own company, my father started his own company—very successful companies in their own right, but I never wanted to work for the family business. I always wanted to make my own brand and make my own name for myself in the industry. I'm quite happy with the results and continue to work on evolving and becoming better.

Can you tell us about DTSI and how it became a part of the NTT group?

When I started DTSI in 1997, it was a joint venture with Fujitsu, another Japanese company. And then, many years later, I met NTT as one of my providers of connectivity. It became a more strategic relationship, and that's how we became part of the NTT Group.

NTT is the third largest company in Japan. We are the 65th largest company in the world, with 106 billion dollars in revenue, so I'm very proud to be part of that. Very few Filipino companies are able to transition into the global market, and my vision was always to become global.

Although DTSI was doing projects in the United States and other parts of the world, today, with NTT, we are truly global with presence in over 57 countries around the world.

Where did your interest in the IT-BPO industry come from?

As a young man, I said, "How do I bring value to society?" One thing I really believe in is the Filipino knowledge worker. I truly believe how good the Filipinos are—our capability in English and in enablement, the workforce, and ethics.

Filipinos are warm and hospitable people, which shines through in customer service and any kind of job, and that's what makes the Philippines very special. I took that skill of the Filipinos, the secret sauce of the Filipino, and sold that in the US first. I was continuously knocking on corporate companies, small, medium, and large, to convince them to come to the Philippines. I was one of the pioneers that really knocked on the doors of the US, convincing these very large companies to please come to the Philippines.

It was all about selling the Filipino knowledge worker, the Filipino talent, and the Filipino capability, and by then, one customer at a time, we convinced them. Now here we are in terms of the BPO industry being the second biggest contributor to the Philippines' GNP. We have helped provide hundreds of thousands of jobs directly, and millions indirectly, to the country by convincing companies to enter the Philippine market.

Can you tell us more about your flagship services?

The value we bring is an end-to-end solution to our customers—from advisory, incorporation, set-up, PEZA, and the whole nine yards. We help them even with recruitment of their leadership, because we know so many people in the industry. From there, we do what I call an end-to-end solution or the "Intelligent Workplace of the Future."

This is what we do: an intelligent workplace or the workplace of the future, where we design, we build. We actually do the construction—we build their facility, we build their offices, and we do all of the information technology from LAN/WAN to PC, network servers, application solutions that enable or provide better business outcomes. All our customers need to do is to operate; and in some cases we do the IT managed services for them.

We call it a one-stop shop for our clients.

How do you deal with the constant changes in technology and the digital world?

We constantly have to innovate. It's how we create better outcomes for our customers, so we're now on the journey of digital transformation. We provide Robotic Process Automation (RPA), kinds of Artificial Intelligence (AI), and managed security.

As you talk about the digitalization of companies, everybody wants to go digital, but how do you really protect the company? The biggest threats today are cyber attacks. The Philippines, unfortunately, is one of the top five countries in the world being attacked all the time. Most companies here spend very little on security; it's the least priority. That's why we're easy targets. If you're a thief, which wall would you want to go up? The shortest wall, the easiest wall to get in. And if companies don't invest in their wall, they can't protect themselves. It's not just about putting up a firewall. You have to be watching constantly.

We have an active AI engine with global threat intelligence platform and very sophisticated security analysts all around the world. We have over 1,500 highly-trained security analysts watching our customers' network all the time.

The way we provide innovation to our clients is by providing managed security services, and we, NTT, is one of the leading providers. Business is all about trust, relationships are all about trust, and that's what we bring to our clients.

What is your management style?

I lead by example. I am a very passionate, very aggressive leader. Hopefully my people will be as passionate. People would say I have such a big network, that I know so many people, but I say, you can have that same network. I am intentional with building my network.

Leadership style is leading by example, doing the right things with integrity. My leadership style is values-centric, putting the customer at the center of everything that we do, and then our people as well. We want happy employees. If you have happy employees, you have happy customers. So we want to engage the employees. It's my job as a leader to create the temperature, the climate, and the culture of the company, and that's what I always try to do.

How do you see the BPO industry in the country?

Based on the percentage of growth, obviously it is slowing down because of the law of large numbers. We're not growing by 15 to 20% anymore. We're now growing by 5 to 7%. The base is much bigger. We have over 1.4 million employees in the industry, and we're growing by 5% a year. That's still a very big number. But I'm still very bullish about the value that the Philippines brings. I travel all over the world, and we tell the story of the Philippines. There's nowhere else in the world where you can get this kind of knowledge worker.
